Dear Friends,

As the 2015 Pan Am/Parapan Am Games draw closer our Transportation Department is finalizing their work plan to try to deal with the expected increased volume on our streets. The new Toronto Sports Centre located Morningside Avenue and Military Trail will host a number of aquatic events bringing visitors to our community. If you have not had an opportunity to visit the centre please do.

The venue is a state of the art aquatic centre and field house with impressive viewing galleries. Event details can be viewed at <http://www.toronto2015.org/schedule>. The Pan Am schedule runs from July 7 to 26, 2015, and covers all 36 Pan Am Games sports.

The Parapan Am schedule runs from August 7 to 15, 2015, and covers all 15 parasports contested at the Games.

I'm really looking forward to them, and also full use of this wonderful facility once the games are over.

Sincerely,
Paul

<http://app.toronto.ca/tmmis/viewAgendaItemHistory.do?item=2015.EX4.7>

1 - Motion to Amend Item (Additional) moved by Councillor Paul Ainslie (Carried)

That:

1. The Director, Affordable Housing Office and the General Manager, Shelter, Support and Housing Administration include in the 2016 report the most current data, with analysis, on income, poverty and housing affordability in Toronto including, but not limited to, median annual household income, home prices and income requirements to purchase a home, the percentage of households in poverty and core housing need, vacancy rates and average market rents. Also to be included in the report is data for the City of Toronto on:

- homelessness (including the number of people living on the streets and using shelters);
- the number of households on the social housing waiting list; and
- the annual number of new affordable housing units completed each year from 2010-2015.

2. The Director, Affordable Housing Office and the General Manager, Shelter, Support and Housing Administration review the federal report entitled "In From the Margins: A Call to Action on Poverty, Housing and Homelessness", prepared for the Senate Subcommittee on Cities by Senators Art Eggleton and Hugh Segal, to see if there are any relevant additional recommendations which can be added to the Housing Action Plan.

2 - Motion to Amend Item (Additional) moved by Councillor Paul Ainslie (Carried)

That City Council request the Province to increase the amount of supportive housing for persons with mental health and addiction issues and other disabilities.

2015.EX5.21 - Support for Banning the Use of Microbeads

<http://app.toronto.ca/tmmis/viewAgendaItemHistory.do?item=2015.EX5.21>

Council voted to support banning the use of microbeads in personal-care products by asking the provincial (Ontario) and federal governments to establish legislation for such a ban. The tiny plastic bits, or microspheres, are used as exfoliating agents in some cosmetic products, for example. When those products are washed down household drains, the microbeads are small enough to pass through sewage treatment, entering rivers and lakes, including Lake Ontario.

Saint John Paul II Catholic High School

I was the Guest of Honour this past month at Saint John Paul II Catholic High School. The invitation was to listen to one of their Grade 10 Civics Class present their end of term project. The students worked very diligently to present their case for a cross-walk in front of their school on Military Trail. This included a petition, surveys, and even videos of the traffic on Military Trail.

Almost every student and staff member signed a petition for the crosswalk which I have given to staff in our Transportation Department to review

Request to Install an All-Way Stop Control at Holmfirth Terrace at Vanwart Drive

Report Link

Further to a citizen's request, Transportation Services has completed a request for an All-Way Stop Control at Holmfirth Terrace at Vanwart Drive. Based on the review, it has been concluded that the existing traffic controls at the subject intersection are currently providing a safe environment for both pedestrians and motorists.

Transportation Services is unable to recommend the installation of an All-Way Stop Control at Holmfirth Terrace at Vanwart Drive, at this time.

This conclusions was based on an All-Way Stop Control Warrant study conducted on Thursday, October 23, 2014, using that day's traffic volumes recorded during the morning and afternoon peak hour, from 7:00 a.m. to 9:00 a.m. and from 4:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. The results of our studies indicate that the technical warrants for the installation of an all-way stop control have not been satisfied.

Currently, this "T-type" intersection requires northbound traffic on Vanwart Drive to stop at Holmfirth Terrace. Holmfirth Terrace is classified as a collector road with a posted 40 km/h speed limit. Vanwart Drive is classified as a local road with a regulatory speed of 50 km/h.

This civil and electrical portions of this project are expected to begin by early July 2015 with an approximate completion date of late February 2016. The boundaries include Westlake Road (North), Galloway Road (East), Guildwood Parkway (South), and Livingston Road (West).

The attached general notification / open house letter describing the project will be delivered to 178 customers in the project area.

If you or your constituents have any questions, please contact me at the Toronto Hydro PowerUp office at 416-542-3366 or capitalprojects@torontohydro.com.

45 Livingston Road Swimming Pool is Now Open

The restrictive Scarborough only pool by-law has been repealed.

I would like to thank all the Residents at 45 Livingston Road who brought this matter to my attention. You have all helped in a change for the entire Scarborough Community

Scarborough has now adopted the same by-law practiced across the City of Toronto and Province of Ontario, no longer making it mandatory to hire a full time lifeguard on duty during pool hours. This has caused pool closures or decreased hours as the cost is not manageable. The matter is being heard at the Board of Health at their April meeting.

9. Council Highlights

Council Highlights
Toronto City Council meeting of May 5, 6 and 7, 2015

Council Highlights is an informal summary of decisions made by Toronto City Council. The City Clerk provides the formal documentation at <http://www.toronto.ca/council>.

Appointment of new City Manager

Council appointed Peter Wallace as Toronto's City Manager effective July 13. The City Manager, as the most senior official in the City's administration, is accountable to City Council for the policies and programs delivered by the Toronto Public Service. Wallace succeeds Joe Pennachetti, who retired as City Manager on May 8. Deputy City Manager John Livey will act as City Manager between May 9 and July 12. In addition, Council appointed Giuliana Carbone as a Deputy City Manager (one of three in the organization) effective June 1. Carbone, who has been the City's Treasurer since 2008, will lead the cluster of divisions that are responsible social, economic and community services.

Toronto's support for entrepreneurs

Council endorsed a start-up strategy to foster the growth of small businesses in Toronto, with the intention of making this city the best place in the world to start and grow a business. This economic development initiative places emphasis on business incubation, which is an established method drawing on the City and other resources to support the growth of small businesses. Toronto already supports business incubation activity for its fashion and food industries and the Toronto Business Development Centre.

Confronting youth unemployment

Council adopted recommendations for actions to address the challenge of youth unemployment in Toronto. The City will pursue opportunities to expand work-based learning initiatives for unemployed youth by leveraging its role as an employer, capitalizing on the City's connections with employer and sector partners, increasing support to youth entrepreneurs, and supporting youth who are outside the labour market.

Street vending

Council approved a new set of permit fees and rules covering mobile food vending (food trucks) and ice cream vending. After a one-year review of the bylaw including stakeholder and public consultation, changes were made to further ease restrictions and provide more opportunities for vendors. This bylaw balances the City's need to manage the competing uses of streets and sidewalks, and improves the public's access to a wide variety of street food. The City will take steps to address illegal vending and environmental impacts such as vehicle emissions.

Speed limits on Toronto streets

Council approved a series of actions to address traffic speeds on local neighbourhood streets, including a new 30 kilometre-an-hour (km/h) speed limit policy in the absence of traffic calming. In addition, staff will report on the implications for Toronto of an Ontario Ministry of Transportation proposal to lower the current default speed limit of 50 km/h, and will report on school safety zones as part of a road safety plan for Toronto.

Scarborough Subway Extension

Management of the Scarborough subway project Council adopted recommendations to have staff review different options for project delivery and project procurement for the Scarborough Subway Extension project. Staff are to report back in early 2016 with recommendations on procurement and for project management, delivery and governance.

Development charges to support transit

Council voted to update the City's development charges bylaw to add the Scarborough Subway Extension project to the list of municipal projects that have their capital costs partly paid from development charges.

Revenue from development charges, which are fees collected from new development when the City issues a building permit, are one source of City funding that will be used to pay for the subway project.

New green bin

Council approved a contract for manufacturing, distributing and maintaining the next generation green bin for organic waste collection, and directed staff to work with residents and councillors on related matters such as possible alternative methods of green bin collection.

Torontonians are currently using about 500,000 green bins and the bins are reaching the end of their life expectancy.

Child care in Toronto

Council supported a series of position recommendations the City will make to the Ontario provincial government concerning proposed regulatory amendments under the new Child Care and Early Years Act, 2014. Council specified, for example, that the reforms should address the alignment of school board and child care programs.

Children's services plan

Council approved a five-year plan for the City's children's services, which include child care, family-support programs, special-needs services and middle-childhood programs. The 2015-2019 Service Plan, which positions the Children's Services division to respond to the transformation of Ontario's early-learning system, has the overall goal of providing a cohesive system of services responding to the needs of Toronto's children and families.

Review of City's real estate operations

Council adopted recommendations to study options for co-ordinating and/or consolidating the City's real estate operations and portfolios across City agencies, corporations and divisions, including activities such as property acquisition and sales for municipal purposes.

Red Door Shelter project

Council approved the City's investment of funds for a 94-bed shelter to be built at 875 Queen St. E. and operated by the Woodgreen Red Door Family Shelter to provide services to homeless families. The shelter, which will be part of a larger development at the Riverdale site, previously operated in an older building at the same location. The Red Door's future had been in question as a result of the recent sale and planned development of the property.

Next year's budget process

Council approved a schedule for the City's 2016 budget process. The schedule calls for adoption of the 2016 rate-supported budgets (Toronto Water, Solid Waste Management and Toronto Parking Authority) in December 2015 and the tax-supported budgets in February 2016. Council's approval includes the implementation of multi-year, service-based planning and budgeting, with opportunities for public deputations at the civic centres and information sessions about user fees.

Support for long-form census

As part of its consideration of the Toronto's Social Development Dashboard, Council agreed to ask the federal government to restore the long-form census for 2016 and beyond. The long-form census has traditionally provided robust, reliable data about the people and communities served by municipalities and their partners. Council joins the Federation of Canadian Municipalities, the Big City Mayors Committee and the Ontario Municipal Social Services Association, among other organizations, in advocating for restoration of the long-form census.

Taxicab regulations

Council deferred consideration of Toronto's taxicab regulations until Council has an opportunity to consider a report from the City Solicitor following a court decision about Uber in Toronto.

Municipalities and climate change

Council authorized renewing the City's membership in the C40 Cities Climate Leadership Group – a network of the world's largest cities. Toronto, which has seen its greenhouse gas emissions drop by 25 per cent against 1990 levels, is considered a leading city in the C40 network. The participating cities share information as part of the effort to help address global climate change.

Plastic microbeads

Council voted to support banning the use of microbeads in personal-care products by asking the provincial (Ontario) and federal governments to establish legislation for such a ban. The tiny plastic bits, or microspheres, are used as exfoliating agents in some cosmetic products, for example. When those products are washed down household drains, the microbeads are small enough to pass through sewage treatment, entering rivers and lakes, including Lake Ontario.

Craft beer in Toronto

Council supported undertaking an initiative to support the growth of the craft beer sector in Toronto. The City will work to reduce impediments to establishing new craft breweries. Staff and the working group on culinary tourism will consult with small breweries, craft-beer bars and restaurants to create a brewery culinary trail in Toronto. Culinary trails/tours are a current trend in tourism.

10. Top Tips from Toronto Water – Spring 2015

Flyer Link

Spring has finally sprung! And with it comes spring cleaning, gardening and spending more time outside. We hope you find this content helpful and consider sharing it on your own website, newsletter or through Twitter.

Top Tips from Toronto Water – Spring 2015 Gardening

- Disconnect your downspout (it's mandatory, where feasible) use the rainwater to water your grass and gardens.
- No extra watering required during the spring, the rain is enough.
- Sweep sidewalks and driveways clean instead of using a running hose.
- Start planning your water-efficient, natural garden using native plants and trees.

Basement flooding prevention

- Disconnect your downspouts that empty into the City's sewer system, direct the rainwater to your lawn and garden or into a rain barrel.
- Clear eaves troughs and downspouts of debris.
- Increase the amount of green space on your property. This beautiful addition to your home will help absorb rain water, protecting your basement and local waterways from excess storm water and flooding.
- Ensure the ground is sloping away from your home's foundation walls.
- Seal window wells and fix leaks in basement walls and around windows.
- Install a back-water valve and a basement sump pump. Homeowners can take advantage of City subsidies of up to $3,400 per property to assist with the cost of installing certain flood protection devices. Be sure to maintain back-water valves and sump pumps according to the manufacturer's directions.
- Be nice to your pipes, don't flush wipes. Disposable wipes of any kind (even those that say flushable) should go in the garbage -- never down the toilet. These wipes do not break down the way toilet paper does so can get stuck in pipes causing sewer backups which can lead to basement flooding.

Car washing

The dirt on cars can contain toxic chemicals, heavy metals, oil and grease. When you wash a car in your driveway or on the street, that dirty water runs into the storm sewers and straight into local waterways, contributing to water pollution and impacting Lake Ontario's water quality.

To avoid having dirty water run into the storm sewer system, consider these options for washing your car:

- Use a commercial car wash facility (automatic or coin). These facilities are required to follow a set of practices determined by the City, including treating wastewater and discharging it into the sanitary sewer system where it will receive further treatment.
- Dispose of the wastewater into the sanitary sewer. By using a pail, washcloth and only a small amount of water, and then wiping the car dry, the waste water can be contained in the bucket and disposed of into the sanitary sewer through a laundry sink or toilet. Once in the sanitary sewer system, the water will go to a City wastewater treatment plant.
- Find a location where the wastewater won't flow into the storm sewer such as a gravel surface where the wastewater can be absorbed.
