June/July 2012
Volume 12 Issue 42

Dear Residents of Ward 43,

City Hall has been busy as usual with all the standing committee meetings and City Council, meeting will continue into July with a short recess in August.

I look forward to seeing you at our Annual Guild Alive with Culture Art Festival on July 28 and July 29. This year's Festival will run from 10:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. and will feature as always artist vendors, a community section, great music and lots for the children to do. New this year will be the Olde Stone Cottage setting up a mini pub as the food court along with a Beer Garden for all to enjoy. The culinary offerings will be true to the Olde Stone Cottage menu and a great complement to the Festival. Theatre Scarborough will run their production at the park at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights in July as well as during the Art Festival.

The Guild Alive with Culture Art Festival is organized and brought to you by my office along with the Guild Renaissance Group and Citizen members. We have all been working towards bringing the community a fantastic festival.

On Monday June 25 the Board of Health Committee adopted my motion for indoor play areas in eating establishments. The committee directed the Toronto Public Health to develop Infection Prevention and Control (IPAC) guidelines for indoor play areas and provide them to operators of food establishments containing indoor play areas during routine and complaint inspections.

I also introduced a motion at the June City Council session for the City of Toronto to designate the Guildwood Park and Gardens a National Historic Site with national significance. The designation would provide a tool to for any further Federal funding for the site. I have been working with Mr. Chuck Konkel on the Federal application and have engaged grade 11 Sir Wilfrid Laurier students to participate by submitting short essays on why they believe a National Historic Site designation is warranted for Guildwood Park and Gardens.

Sincerely,
Paul

2. Seven Oaks

Annual Summer BBQ Seven Oaks Park

On Thursday June 21, 2012 I held my annual Seven Oaks Community BBQ. I would like to thank everyone who attended and braved the rain. Although the rain started an hour into the festivities I had a great opportunity to speak to a number of residents.

Seven Oaks Park Play Equipment

The Park Play ground is expected to be complete by the first week of July. I will be hosting a ribbon cutting BBQ Celebration to open the area on July 18,2012 from 6 p.m. - 8 p.m. If you have had a chance to see the park it looks fantastic, the kids will be in for a real treat.

Tent Structure at Southeast corner of Skyridge. + Military Trail

The tent structure which was situated at the corner of Skiridge Avenue has now been taken down. My office received several calls regarding this structure as it creating site line issues for motorists. The structure was associated with a Toronto Water capital works project to upgrade an existing below grade sanitary pumping station. The full will be restored in the upcoming weeks before the full commissioning of the new station can be completed.

Public Meeting in Cornell Park for Proposed Ball Court

A meeting will take place on Thursday July 19, 2012 on the park property, to discuss the proposal to build a ball hockey court in Cornell Park. Parks staff will attend and bring drawings of the sport amenity so residents can have a first hand look at the ball court.

Residents had expressed an interest in installing a hockey ball park in Cornell Park. The play area would be approximately 60 ft x 120 ft with chain link fence and timber wall goals, several trees are also proposed surrounding the sport amenity. I look forward to seeing you at the meeting.

The Guild Renaissance Group (GRG): <http://guildrenaissancgroup.com/>

Guild Inn Bickford Residence

The City has hired a consultant to write the Request for Proposal (RFP) for restaurant and hospitality services at the Guild Inn. This consultant has met with the Guild Park Advisory Committee on June 14th the RFP time line was discussed along with the committees input. The draft RFP is going to be prepared over the summer and the draft will be brought to Guild Park Advisory Committee at the end of August for final review. The RFP would then be issued by the City in September.

My office has been approached by many interested individuals who have been advised of the pending RFP. These individuals have been advised to view the final RFP issued by the City this September. We have all been waiting quiet some time for a proper partner for the site. Our new approach in hiring the consultant with restaurant and hospitality experience through the real estate division brings a new scope to our process, I am hopeful that it will bring the proponent needed to fulfil the rehabilitation of the Guild Inn Bickford Residence to a successful .

What is an RFP?

Is issued at an early stage in a procurement process, where an invitation is presented for suppliers through a bidding process, to submit a proposal on a specific project, The RFP process brings structure to the procurement decision and is meant to allow the risks and benefits to be identified clearly up front.

Fence at along Guildwood Parkway

The fence surrounding the Guild Inn Park and Gardens has reached the end of its life and it being torn down and will not be replaced. I have received many phone calls from residents expressing that the fence was not attractive and rusted, the fence was also acting as a barrier to the parkland. Since the project to remove the fence has commenced many residents have advised that the area has been enhanced.

Guildwood Park and Gardens National Historic Site with national significance granted by City Council.

I introduced a motion at the June City Council session for the City of Toronto to designate the Guildwood Park and Gardens a National Historic Site with national significance. The designation would provide a tool to for any further Federal funding for the site. I have been working with Mr. Chuck Konkel on the Federal application and have engaged grade 11 Sir Wilfrid Laurier students to participate by submitting short essays on why they believe a National Historic Site designation is warranted for Guildwood Park and Gardens.

9. Council Highlights

City Council meeting of May 8 and 9, 2012

Council Highlights is an informal summary of decisions made by Toronto City Council. The City Clerk provides the formal documentation at <http://www.toronto.ca/council>.

Community use of school pools

Council approved a five-year agreement between the City of Toronto and the Toronto District School Board for the City's continued use of pools in Toronto schools. The agreement extends to June 2017. By offsetting the board's pool operation and maintenance costs, the City is able to use 33 school pools for community swim programs weeknights, weekends and during the summer months.

Sale of City properties

Council decided to make changes to the procedure for considering the transfer of City of Toronto lands to the Build Toronto agency for sale on behalf of the City as surplus to its needs. The process is to include consultation with the relevant ward councillor and the City's chief planner. Meanwhile, Council authorized the transfer of several specified properties to Build Toronto as recommended by the Government Management Committee.

Toronto Sportsmen's Show

Council agreed to exempt the City's Exhibition Place from a policy that prohibits the use of City facilities for the promotion of firearms. The exemption was made to permit the Toronto Sportsmen's Show to host its annual show at Exhibition Place. The show was held at a different location the past two years, after the previous Council banned the display of guns on City property. Gun displays, as well as presentations about the safe use and storage of guns, are a component of the show.

Firearms database

Council agreed to ask the Province of Ontario to do everything in its power to stop the planned deletion of existing data pertaining to non-restricted gun ownership in Ontario. Federal Bill C19 has ordered the deletion of data on millions of non-restricted firearms currently registered in Canada - including about 287,000 such firearms registered in the Greater Toronto Area. Council reaffirmed its support for the registration of all firearms. The data can be useful to police in tracing guns to their last legal owners.

Site of first parliament buildings

Council directed staff to work with the owner of property at Front and Parliament streets that was the site of Canada's first parliament buildings in an effort to secure the site under public ownership at no net cost to the City. A developer has applied to build a residential condominium building on the site. Full public ownership is required for the site to qualify for designation as a national historic site. The City would like to make the first Parliament Site a historic monument and tourist attraction.

Jury duty

Council agreed to ask the Ontario government to deem the members of Toronto City Council ineligible for jury duty. The rationale for the request is that the mayor and councillors have responsibilities that make it impractical and inappropriate for them to serve on a jury. Elected officials of the federal and provincial parliaments are exempt from jury duty.

Toronto's aerospace industry

Council approved the creation of a working group with broad representation dedicated to advancing aerospace-related employment and training in Toronto's Downsview Park area. Council wants to see continued growth of the aerospace sector through the promotion of Toronto as a world-class centre of aerospace excellence.

Specialized driver training for staff

Council approved plans for a pilot project aimed at reducing collisions involving City staff - and in turn reducing the annual cost of collisions involving City vehicles. The pilot project under Fleet Services will use a simulator in the training of 100 City employees who drive daily as part of their job. Assessment of the pilot project will help the City decide whether to implement a larger-scale training program of this kind to supplement its established driver training and safety efforts.

Promoting awareness of autism

Council agreed to endorse Autism Ontario's Ontario Rides for Autism fundraising event on Sunday, June 10. A motion before Council requesting the formal endorsement noted that Autism Spectrum Disorder affects the lives of about 20,000 Toronto residents and 80,000 Ontarians.

13. Plastic Bags Ban

The plastic bag the centre of attention at this months meetings. The vote introduced as a Mayor's item was to deal with ridding of the 5 cent bag tax, which I voted to abolish. This charge which will seize on July 1, 2012, the banning of plastic bags altogether was put on a the floor of City Council as a fast item.

I did not vote to ban plastic bags. Why did I vote this way: firstly there was no staff report on the impact this would have on retailers, there was no community consultation, there was no questions asked to the Retail Council of Canada. As your City representatives were are responsible to make sound decisions with the proper information, no information was given, it was a haste decision made without any proper research.

Many of the plastic bags retailers now use are environmentally valid products made out of biodegradable material which can be returned to the landfills through re-use. I also don't want to see an increase in paper bags, as we should be protecting our trees not cutting them down to make bags; we need our tree canopy.

Any justification for the bag tax would see companies opening up their books to prove that the funds were being delegated to environmental issues, the City cannot ask nor do we have the right to make this request on private business. The City Solicitors was also asked for their opinion, but this was voted down. The decision to ban the plastic ban was made without a staff or legal report, it was an emotional vote not a rational one.

Other municipalities like Orillia abolished the 5 cent bag tax but did not ban the plastic bag.

14. Toronto's beaches are among the best in the world

When dreaming of pristine beaches, many residents of Toronto imagine tropical destinations, but they only need to look to the shores of Toronto to find some of the best swimming beaches around. Eight of Toronto's 11 swimming beaches have earned Blue Flags, making them a great choice for family fun and cooling down during the hot summer.

The Blue Flag program is a highly respected and internationally recognized eco-label for swimming beaches. An independent agency, Environmental Defence, operates the program in Canada and is responsible for monitoring 31 factors, including water quality, environmental management and education, safety and services. Blue Flags fly across the world, identifying beaches that meet the highest criteria for excellence.

Toronto's swimming beaches are:

- Bluffer's Beach (Blue Flag)
- Centre Island Beach (Blue Flag)
- Cherry Beach (Blue Flag)
- Gibraltar Point Beach (Blue Flag)
- Hanlan's Point Beach (Blue Flag)
- Kew-Balmy Beach (Blue Flag)
- Marie Curtis Park Beach
- Rouge Beach
- Sunnyside Beach
- Ward's Island Beach (Blue Flag)
- Woodbine Beaches (Blue Flag)

Toronto tests beach water quality daily at its 11 swimming beaches from June through to Labour Day. These samples are analyzed, using the most stringent testing standards in the world, to ensure Toronto's beaches meet the highest water quality standards for swimming. If water tests show E. coli levels exceed the provincial guidelines of 100 E. coli per 100 ml of water, Toronto Public Health warns against swimming at the affected beach. Toronto's Blue Flag beaches met the criteria for swimming, on average, 96 per cent of the time last summer. Daily water quality postings are available on the Beaches Hot line (416-392-7161), the web or via an iPhone App available at <http://www.toronto.ca/beach>.

The City's Parks, Forestry and Recreation division operates and maintains all recreation-related beach facilities and amenities. This service includes regular beach grooming and care of washrooms and change rooms. Toronto Police Marine Unit provides lifeguard services and takes daily water samples. Beginning on June 16, lifeguards will be on duty at all beaches from 11:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. daily.

15. Heat Alerts

During a Heat Alert, the public is encouraged to call or visit family, friends and neighbours, especially isolated adults and seniors who are at greater risk of suffering from heat-related illness, to make sure they are cool and drinking plenty of fluids. Other groups at risk include people with chronic illnesses, limited mobility and with certain mental health illnesses, infants and young children, people on certain medications and those who are homeless.

The public is advised to "Beat the Heat" by taking these precautions:

- Drink lots of cool water even before you feel thirsty
- Go to air conditioned places, including shopping malls or one of many local libraries or community centres located in each neighbourhood
- Take cool showers or baths or use cool wet towels to cool down

- Wear loose light coloured breathable clothing and when outdoors wear a wide-brimmed hat
- Avoid the sun and stay in the shade or use an umbrella
- Reschedule or plan outdoor activities during the cooler parts of the day
- Never leave seniors, children or pets unattended in a car.

Landlords of buildings without air conditioning are encouraged to provide a dedicated cooling room for residents to escape the heat. Community agencies are encouraged to educate clients on the risks of heat-related illness and to call or check those clients at increased risk of heat-related illness during alerts.

When an alert is declared, those who need assistance or have heat-related inquiries may call 311.

More information about How to Beat the Heat is available at <http://www.toronto.ca/health>.

Often high air pollution occurs during hot weather conditions. People with heart and lung conditions, seniors and children should pay special attention to the hourly Air Quality Health Index levels and forecasts available at <http://www.airhealth.ca>.

16. Summerlicious 2012 reservations

Starting Thursday, June 21, participating restaurants will be accepting reservations for the popular prix-fixe promotion Summerlicious presented by American Express.

Celebrating its 10th year from July 6 - 22, the 2012 Summerlicious prix-fixe promotion features 181 restaurants, making this the largest Summerlicious celebration in the event's history. This year's participants include 22 restaurants that took part in the inaugural Summerlicious event and 21 restaurants taking part for the first time.

Three-course prix-fixe lunch menus are priced at $15, $20 and $25 and dinner is priced at $25, $35 and $45.

Reservations are strongly recommended and are to be made directly with the participating dining establishments.

Visitors to the official Summerlicious website <http://www.toronto.ca/summerlicious> can locate and sort restaurants by price, neighbourhood and cuisine, and share their list through social media. An interactive map, which can be found on the website, lets visitors find Summerlicious restaurants across the city.

For the latest in Summerlicious news, visit facebook.com/LiciousTO or follow us on Twitter @LiciousTO and check-in on foursquare at LiciousTO.

Toronto food lovers continue to embrace the Summerlicious and Winterlicious programs produced by the City of Toronto. In the years since the two programs' inception, participating restaurants have served 3.4 million meals during the promotion. This has generated more than $152 million in economic activity for the local restaurant industry.

17. City making it easier to access capital construction information

The City of Toronto is making it easier for you to find out about planned capital construction work that is occurring in your neighbourhood in 2012.

A new mapping tool will allow users to quickly determine what planned capital construction is scheduled to take place in their community.

The tool is called T.O. INview (short for INfrastructure viewer). Users will be able to navigate the map-based system to learn about projects that the City, utilities, and other agencies including Metrolinx and the TTC, plan to construct this year.

The new site can be accessed by clicking on www.toronto.ca/inview.

In addition to providing details about the nature of individual projects, the system will be used to improve coordination of projects, with the goal of more efficient capital expenditures and reduced inconvenience to the public.

The new site will show planned capital work, but not emergency or short term work. To find this information, click on www.toronto.ca/torontostreets -- the city's road restrictions website. It's a great place to find out about short term construction work and special events that affect our roads so that you can make travel plans in the city.
